Although ASDS is not involved in the Fellow application and selection process, we have developed a sample form which may be used by Fellowship Programs. It is located on the ASDS website on the cosmetic dermatologic surgery fellowship accreditation webpage. If you are applying for a fellowship and have questions about your application status, please contact the program site directly.

You must notify the ASDS at education@asds.net with any changes. In addition, you will have to pay additional fees depending on the change.

❖ Must all faculty members be board-certified dermatologists?

No. Your faculty can include other board-certified physicians who meet the criteria. However, at least 75% of the minimum case requirement must come from board-certified dermatologists.

No. The Faculty Director only needs to fill out the Program Director Application

The review process is two to three weeks.

❖ When will I be notified that I have been granted full accreditation?

Programs will be notified within 60 days of the Site Review.

❖ What does provisional accreditation mean?

Provisional accreditation means that your application has met the requirements to be granted a site review. ASDS will contact the Program Director to schedule the site review. The site review must be completed by the end of September. During the provisional accreditation process, you may not announce or use the logo until you receive full accreditation.

❖ How do I maintain my full accreditation?

Accredited Fellowship Programs are required to maintain the standards of the program and pay an annual maintenance fee and have regular site reviews. The first regular site review will occur in the third year following accreditation; subsequent reviews will occur every five years.

❖ Should fellows contact ASDS to sign up for the Accredited Fellowship Programs?

No. Fellows must contact the fellowship programs directly.

❖ I completed my fellowship before my program was accredited through the ASDS Cosmetic Dermatologic Surgery Fellowship Program. Can I still receive recognition for having completed an ASDS-accredited Cosmetic Dermatologic Surgery Fellowship?
